

Hi everyone! This is Jimmy and his friend—Invo the Ostrich! They both love superheroes. Today they are wearing their favorite superhero clothes!

And guess what?

Invo has a Superpower. He thinks and feels everything that Jimmy does.

Only Jimmy (along with you and me) can see Invo—which will be fun, because Invo can be pretty silly!

Note to caregivers: Invo represents Jimmy's internal voice.

Now it's time to go to the playground for recess.

Jimmy & Invo notice that some kids are saying mean things to their classmate Evan. Jimmy & Invo think about how Evan must be feeling.

What do you think Evan is thinking and feeling? Jimmy & Invo think Evan is feeling sad and wishing those kids would stop saying mean things to him.

Being able to figure out what Evan might be thinking and feeling is another Superpower.

It is called “EMPATHY.”

