

'Colour makes me feel happy,
Curly,' smiled Lippy.

'You might like to try on some of these glasses then.' Curly pulled out a pair of glasses with purple lenses
and gave them to Lippy.

Lopy put them on. 'Wow! These make everything look purple and I feel ... creative.'

Curly handed him a pair of glasses with green lenses.
Lopy put them on.

'Ooh! These make everything look green and I feel ... relaxed.'

Curly handed him a pair of glasses with grey lenses. Lopy put them on.

Lopy looked around.
He slumped. He sighed.
'These make everything look grey and I feel ... sad.'

With the grey glasses
on Lopy felt sadder
and sadder.

'I don't think I'll do
any more painting
today,' he said quietly.

